Summer Garden Experience ☆ July 22, 2017 ☆ 9:00 a.m.–2:00 p.m.

WHO'S INVITED?...

You, your family, friends, and anyone interested in learning more about gardening and Penn State horticulture research. Bus groups are welcome (see "Plan Your Trip Now!" below).

WHAT IS THE SUMMER GARDEN EXPERIENCE?

This is the one day every year that Landisville throws open its doors to the general public. While we always have a featured speaker and many concurrent educational sessions, the farm with its numerous research trials and the Penn State Flower Trials are the real stars of this event. Come for a fun day full of information you can use in your own garden!

WHAT IS THE PENN STATE SOUTHEAST AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH & EXTENSION CENTER?

The Landisville Farm, or SEAREC, part of Penn State University's College of Agricultural Sciences, is located in the heart of Lancaster County. Penn State researchers and Extension educators conduct testing of grain crops, forages, annual and perennial flowers, strawberries, tomatoes, pumpkins, and other horticultural crops. They also study disease, insect, and weed pest control, cover crops, fertility, and crop management practices.

Lunch, Ice Cream,
Milkshakes, and Cold
Drinks Available!
